AGENTS GIVE THUMBS-UP TO NEW WEBSITE

Middlesex, March 2008 – A greatly enhanced products and services section is one of the new features on the group website just re-launched by gas-elec Safety Systems to assist letting agents and its other customers. Special areas designated for landlords, agents or homeowners, have been expanded by the addition of real-life case studies i.e. hazards found in the home by gas-elec engineers, to underline the safety message and the essential nature of safety inspections.

Another innovation is the introduction to the website, www.gas-elec.co.uk, of the group's other products including One Call Plus, providing 24/7 emergency and maintenance cover for just £16 per month, fire-lec fire safety risk assessments, and the g-lec skills academy for award-winning training programmes including H&S and Domestic Energy Assessment.

Also on the website is an expanded franchise opportunities section which details the skills and services offered by gas-elec's team of engineers and regional managers in support of their professional clients.

gas-elec's clients and franchisees have already given the "thumbs-up" to the new site and its extra facilities. "The internet is now an essential communication and information tool for the trade and the public," says managing director John Davidson. "We want to give them all the information they need – and more – to help agents and clients make informed decisions about our products and services.
